Four Churches and a Marchioness

Why do people in England, after nearly 400 years, have reason to remember Helena Snakenborg, Marchioness of Northampton?

Brita Green tells the story of Elizabeth I's Swedish lady in waiting and her links with four English churches.

Meetings begin at 7.30 p.m. and are held in the Norwegian Study Centre, Quantum House, Science Park, University of York,

Heslington, YO10 5DD

Talks are followed by informal discussion over light refreshments. Non-members are always welcome as guests.
